Ten Days Left to Apply for the 2023-2024 ICDE Fellowship Program

Applications are due on January 31st, 2023 at midnight Eastern Standard Time.

of Fellows that will focus on the nexus of the climate crisis, the digital economy, and cooperatives. The non-residential Fellowship program, now in its third cohort, is accessible to activists and academics (often Ph.D. students) from a wide range of disciplines and backgrounds, including economics, sociology, political science, anthropology, business, labor studies, and others.

The Institute is also seeking two artists to join the Fellowship cohort and use their creative practices to investigate the nexus of art, environmental justice, and cooperatives.

The Fellowship program will run for one year, beginning on March 15, 2023. This Fellowship program does not offer a monthly stipend. However, successful applicants will receive a one-time payment of $2,000 to be used towards expenses related to travel to the next conference, likely in India. The Institute is committed to building a diverse and inclusive global community and actively solicits Fellowship applications from individuals who can enrich the cohort's diversity.
